Class of KidsPost Questionnaire 2017-18

Attention kids and teachers: Would you like to be featured as the Class of KidsPost? Each month of the school year, KidsPost will publish the opinions of a class of students, grades two through seven. Here’s your chance to be heard!

All you have to do is fill out this questionnaire. (It’s available for download at kidspost.com). We would prefer that teachers submit a questionnaire from each student. We also need a hi-res photograph of the class. This can be a group shot or something taken during a particularly interesting activity. Cellphone photos are fine (send as “large”).

Questionnaires and photos must be sent only by a teacher, principal or other school representative. E-mail them to kidspost@washpost.com and put “Class of KidsPost” in the subject field or mail them to KidsPost, The Washington Post, 1301 K St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20071.

Thanks for participating; we can’t wait to share your opinions. Classes that are featured will receive a Chesapeake Bay KidsPost poster, several books and KidsPost pencils for all students. Teachers who have questions can email us at kidspost@washpost.com.
